- Helping you to discover reproducible techniques to transmit the message you want to give
- Developing the right speaking techniques to match the venues you present in – introductions, meetings, presentations, social events, etc.
- Practicing these techniques in a training environment
- Improving the effectiveness of your delivery

COURSE OUTLINE

This course will analyze what makes a speaker sound dynamic and enthusiastic and give you an opportunity to practice these skills. It will focus on the following points:

Voice and Delivery. As a presenter, the ability to pace your speech and use your voice to create impact is the single most important skill you need. You will be more effective if you are in control of your voice by your use of stress, pausing, intonation, volume, and silence.

Content Language. You can't be a good public speaker unless you have something to say. Being confident about your content is crucial. This course will help you to identify and organize all the key words and phrases you are likely to need and teaches you how to turn written English into spoken English for clear, powerful and memorable statements.

Rhetorical Technique. Once you are in charge of your voice and your content you can start to think of how best to present your subject. This course will look at the techniques successful speakers use automatically. You will have a chance to practice these techniques and to choose the techniques that suit you best. After that, you will have time to work on perfecting them.

Question Handling. Perhaps the most unpredictable part of any kind of public speaking event is the question session. This may be after your talk or you may invite questions during it. If time permits, we will teach you how to field different types of questions and deal effectively with the subjects your audience may raise.
